

25. July 2024

Welcome to my Website!

In the following paragraphs I have summarized some important aspects about my work. I hope it will help you figure out if us working together could be interesting for you. Please do not hesitate to reach out at 23-23@tutanota.com if you have any questions.

X
Esmat

Contents

- 1 about Somatic Experiencing
- 2 individual sessions
- 3 group sessions
- 4 availability and fees
- 5 my qualifications
- 6 my scope of practice
- 7 my background
- 8 Peter Levine on Somatic Experiencing

1 about Somatic Experiencing

compared to talk therapy, Somatic Experiencing (SE) tries to

- /// *not only give space to our cognitive thinking but also pay attention to body sensations, emotions as well as the connection between the two*
- /// include your body language: we want to see what can emerge when we allow the more subconscious impulses of your body to direct where we are going in the session
- /// *allow your body to join the conversation, so sessions are less about
'understanding' something, and more about 'experiencing' your self more fully*
- /// provide a somatic counterbalance to many modes of being in the western world, where only our brains take center stage in our decision and sense making
- /// welcome a topic you want to explore, while also giving space to see what emerges when we are just 'here' together
- /// explore mostly through conversation. movement and touch can be included, if you like.
- /// expand the capacity of your autonomous nervous system to activate, down-regulate, as well as contain activation when it emerges

If you want a more in depth description of SE, you can go to www.somaticexperiencing.com, www.traumahealing.org, or scroll down to the end of this document, where SE founder Dr. Peter Levine talks about his approach.

2 individual sessions

in individual sessions we can explore

/// expanding the foundational body awareness that supports further, deeper explorations

/// what it means to be 'here', and what keeps you from being 'here'

/// what it means to 'rest', and what keeps you from resting

/// mapping the 'now'

somatically mapping all that is currently moving you, bringing what you might already 'know' into the lived experience, to allow the nervous system to settle

/// exploring boundaries

/// your relationship with your emotions:

are there emotions that are too domineering?

are there emotions that are difficult to access?

/// processing past or present difficult situations that are still affecting you by creating new lived experiences that can act as counterbalance.

especially in the face of oppression, when things are never 'fine', but ongoing, we can at least stabilize our nervous systems by temporarily finding just a little bit more ease, providing more space, agency and wider vision please note that, contrary to general believe, more subtle/'surface' explorations can be as impactful as 'deeper' explorations. a lot of this work is about rewiring your autonomous nervous system, and this can often happen more easily when you are not at the edge of what your nervous system can 'hold'.

3 group sessions

i decided to start offering group sessions because

- /// i noticed that some of the things that my clients explored in individual sessions were structural, e.g. the impacts of structural oppression, covid, war, climate change, tech+social media, capitalism, etc
- /// i believe that group work provides the space that allows people to see that they are not alone in many of the struggles they are facing
- /// i believe that the layers of collective stress and trauma are not supposed to be approached in individual sessions, or held by you and me individually, in the first place. we do not have to do it alone.

the content of our group explorations is shaped by

- /// the principles of SE
- /// a series of prompts i put together that we can use as starting points, based on my own observations of various 'collective bodies'.
- /// the people who are present in the group: you can make wishes, and we also see what emerges when we come together; quite often it is what is emerging in the space that will be most useful for the group process
- /// experiential teachings that help us develop a language we can use to talk about what is happening in our bodies.
having this language is essential to do any further explorations.

please get in touch if you would like to have access to more in-depth information about this approach.

4 availability and fees

/// i am available for individual online sessions via zoom.

- the general fee is 200eur/h
the reduced rate is 100eur/h, subject to availability
- i do this work under the coaching umbrella, i.e. i cannot treat anything directly related to mental health issues, but i can support you in getting to know your body and nervous system

/// i am available for individual in-person sessions in Berlin, Germany

- my practice space is near U-Rathaus Neukölln
- if i have capacity, it would be tuesdays (2.30pm-8pm)
and fridays (8am-2pm)
- i do this work as a therapist, so i am allowed to treat mild to moderate mental health issues.
- the general fee is 150eur/h
the reduced rate is 80eur/h, subject to availability

/// for information related to group work, please get in touch via e-mail.

5 my qualifications

Education

- 2024 Reclaiming the Sacred, Dra. Rocio Rosales Meza, international
- 2024 The Eye Of The Needle, further SE education, Weggis, Switzerland
- 2024 Heilpraktiker für Psychotherapy, Berlin, Germany
- 2023 Certificate Training in Somatic Experiencing with SEI, international
- 2021 Embodied Social Justice Certificate Program, The Embodimentlab, USA
- 2020 Certificate in Sexological Bodywork, Sea School of Embodiment, UK
- 2018 BA Fine Art, Chelsea College of Art, London, UK
- 2016 Exchange Program, The New School, NYC, USA
- 2015 Foundation Diploma in Art, LCC, London, UK

Relevant Work Experience

- 2024- Training Assistant for Somatic Experiencing International
- 2022- Somatic Practitioner + Workshop Facilitator at Casa Kua, Berlin, DE
- 2021- Workshop facilitator at Village, Berlin, DE

6 my scope of practice as a healing practitioner for psychotherapy

with my current German 'Heilpraktiker for Psychotherapie' license I cannot /// prescribe and recommend medication, /// provide medical treatments that go beyond the realm of mental health:
e.g. I cannot directly work with muscles, organs, etc

I also cannot work with /// severe psychiatric disorders (schizophrenia, bipolar disorder, etc)
/// current mental health crisis
/// suicidal ideation
/// severe depression
/// substance use disorders
/// eating disorders
/// severe personality disorders
/// patients with complex medical conditions /// violent or aggressive behavior posing safety risks with my current license I can work with the following /// ptsd

/// fears, anxieties + panic attacks /// compulsions
/// mild/moderate depressions
/// mild sleep disorders
/// any more severe struggles, if your main psychiatrist/therapist recommends additional support through a Somatic Experiencing practitioner

7 my background

The lived experiences i bring to my work were shaped by my own attempts in trying to navigate

/// power
/// oppression
/// liberation /// community

in the realms of /// gender /// sexuality
/// whiteness/german dominant culture /// neurotypicality /// generational trauma and /// developmental trauma

8 Peter Levine on Somatic Experiencing

Excerpt From 'An Autobiography of Trauma: A Healing Journey' by Peter A. Levine, 2024

'The Somatic Experiencing method is a naturalistic and neurobiological body-oriented approach to healing trauma and other stress disorders. The SE approach releases traumatic shock and restores connection, which is key to transforming PTSD and the wounds of emotional and early developmental attachment trauma. It offers a framework to assess where a person is "stuck" in the fight, flight, or freeze responses and provides clinical tools to resolve these fixated physiological states to restore the authentic self with self-regulation, relaxation, wholeness, and aliveness.

Human beings have an innate ability to overcome the effects of diverse traumas. The SE approach facilitates the completion of self-protective motoric responses and the release of thwarted survival energy bound in the body and nervous system, thus addressing the root cause of trauma symptoms. This is approached by gently guiding clients to develop increasing tolerance for difficult bodily sensations and suppressed emotions, building their capacity for containment and resilience.

Dr. Levine believes that the traumatic event isn't what causes long-lasting trauma, it is the overwhelming trapped response to the perceived life-threat that is causing an imbalanced nervous system. Somatic Experiencing's aim is to help one access the body memory (procedural memory) of the event, not the story. It is not necessary to share the details of your trauma history to do SE. The objective is to diffuse the power of the narrative and remap the body memory to regain aliveness and flow. In 'In an Unspoken Voice', he wrote that trauma is not just what happened to us, but rather what we hold inside in the absence of a present and empathetic other.

Like other somatic psychology approaches, Somatic Experiencing is a body first approach to dealing with the problematic (and oftentimes physical) symptoms of trauma. It helps individuals create new experiences in their bodies; ones that contradict those of tension and overwhelming helplessness. This means that healing isn't about reclaiming memories or changing our thoughts and beliefs about how we feel, it's about exploring the sensations that lie underneath our feelings and beliefs, as well as our habitual behavior patterns.

Somatic Experiencing training programs are designed to be accessible to psychologists, psychotherapists, psychoanalysts, psychiatrists, social workers, counselors, addiction treatment specialists, body workers, osteopaths, occupational therapists, physical therapists, medical doctors, nurses, acupuncturists, dentists, yoga teachers, meditation teachers, art therapists, equine therapists, life coaches, first responders, corrections officers, educators, clergy, spiritual advisors, and support providers for children and those with special needs.

Somatic Experiencing Practitioners (SEP) are devoted to bottom-up somatic-based processing as they begin their client's healing journey. They have backgrounds in a variety of different modalities/psychotherapies so you can find one that specializes in other treatments of interest, like CBT, psychiatry, craniosacral, bodywork, or equine therapy to name a few. SEPs who've taken our training integrate SE work into their other practices to create a well-rounded healing experience. To take the training you must be approved by presenting what other healing modalities you use in your practice.

Remember, no two SE Practitioners are the same, and our nervous systems are not all the same. We recommend that you experience a few and see whom you resonate with the best.'